work. Moreno won the contest. His first try, and is now located at the entryway in the Alice Walmart.

"Being in the tattoo business during the (coronavirus) pandemic has created challenges this year," said Moreno. "In March, when tattoo businesses closed down, I decided I needed to stay busy. Idle time is the devil's playground."

Since March, Moreno has accomplished four sign art pieces - two at the Boys and Girls Club of Alice, one at Happy Daze, and one at Collins Cemetery - all free of charge.

"I wanted to do something for the community, so I donated my art and to get my name out there," said Moreno.

He now has accomplished the large wall mural at the Alice and Wonderland's Food Truck Park on West Front Street, and his latest mural expected to be finished in the next few weeks, at the Wedding Lace Bridal Shop in downtown Alice on the corner of Main Street and South Reynolds.

"When I saw his work at the food truck park, I knew he was the real deal and I wanted him to do the mural for our business," said Renee Pedraza owner of Wedding Lace. "We as business own-

Moreno who was born and raised in Alice found an entirely new passion amidst the chaos of difficult times and decided to stay creative and authentic to who he is.

"Growing up everyone would say get a real job, you'll never be an artist, but I stuck to my guns and stayed true to me and no one says that to me anymore," said Moreno. "I am not sure where this mural work will take me, but for now, I am really enjoying it and I hope to light up Alice with my work."
